Advent is Middle Ground

In many ways, Advent is a “not yet” season. Mary and Joseph have not yet traveled to Bethlehem, the infant Jesus has not yet been born, the angels have not yet appeared to the shepherds, and the star has not yet come to rest over the manger. Still, with all these “not yet’s” embedded in the Advent story, we spend these days and weeks living in faith that God will provide what has been promised—a long-awaited Messiah, a living hope.

—Pamela C. Hawkins, Behold!

In the season of Advent, we celebrate and reflect Christ’s first coming, which crescendos at Christmas. While simultaneously we eagerly anticipate Christ’s second return and the fulfilling of His glorious kingdom. Yes, both looking backwards and forwards at the same time.

However, it is in the interval between these two events we find meaning for our life as Christians. During advent we recognize four signposts of the season. These signposts are the virtues of Hope, Peace, Joy, and Love. During this most unique advent and Christmas season I strongly encourage you to pay attention to these signposts. Taking time to reflect on hope, peace, joy and love will give you strength and resilience.

As an advent tradition many people will light candles, one for each week. Just as lighting a candle can bring hope in a darkened room or peace at the end of a busy day taking time to celebrate the arrival of Christ can bring the same.

It is my prayer for each of you that the light of Hope, Peace, Joy, and Love will brighten your days and hearts. For even the darkest of nights cannot cover a small light.

Best Christmas Blessings,
Pastor Kevin
